

Are you not sure what size to take?

Follow this step by step guide to measuring your feet.

Step 4: Measure the length of your foot

Step 5: Finding the final shoe size

Step 1: Gather your supplies

All you need to get your proper foot measurement at home is:

- a piece of paper larger than your foot
- a pencil
- tape
- and a ruler or measuring tape.

Tape the paper down to the floor.

Step 2: Tracing your foot to find your shoe size

- Sit with your foot firmly on the floor, and your leg bent slightly forward so that your shin is slightly in front of your ankle.
- Trace the outline of your foot and remember to measure your foot without shoes, but with socks similar to the ones you'll be wearing with the shoes you are buying.
- Hold the pencil or pen upright and perpendicular to the paper. Do not hold it at an angle.
- Make sure the pencil is resting snugly against your foot as you draw around it.
- You may actually find it helpful to have someone else trace your foot, but as you can see in this image, it can be done alone.

Step 3: Mark the length and width of your foot

Use your pencil to draw straight lines touching the outermost points at the top, bottom, and both sides of the outline.

Step 4: Measure the length of your foot

Use your ruler or measuring tape to measure the length from the bottom line to the top line that you drew in step three.

Be sure to hold the measuring tape straight, and find the closest mark that you can (for inches, use the closest 16th mark) - don't round up or down dramatically.

Write this number down.

Step 5: Finding the final shoe size

Repeat these steps for your other foot, and use the larger of the two.

After you have your numbers written down, you'll want to subtract 0.2 inches (0.5 cm) from the numbers. This is to accommodate for the slight space between your actual foot and the line made by the pencil.

As a remark to this section, we recommend that you select the same shoe size than you generally wear. We don't have half sizes so if you are used to buy half sizes we recommend to take the smaller size. As a small note, it is our experience that return customers generally select the same shoe size again, so you shouldn't worry too much about ordering the wrong shoe size. And if the shoes don't fit, you still have the right to return them and have them exchanged within 365 days!

These final numbers are your actual foot measurements.
